Ice skate event may leave lasting groove

- World Figure Skating Championships will be here March 2013
- People from more than 60 countries expected in Forest City

ANGELA MULLINS
@METRONEWS.CA

More downtown lighting, road upgrades and an improved Victoria Park band shell are just a few of the things the 2013 World Figure Skating Championships could leave behind for Londoners.

About 80 per cent of the $4.1 million administrators want to spend in advance of the event would go toward improvements that pack a lasting punch.

Overall, the cash infusion is meant to "enhance the experience" and make London memorable for the upwards of 36,000 people expected to attend the championships, says the general manager of Tourism London.

"This event, with the exception of the Olympics, is the top skating event worldwide," said John Winston. "This is a tourist attraction of the first order."

The city already has budgeted $1.6 million of the $4.1 million for infrastructure improvements. But

Benefits for the city

Championship impact:

- $22-$28 million: City's expected direct and indirect economic benefit for hosting the world figure skating championships.

officials are far from getting the final OK for the full spending plan, which Winston helped create.

The city council's community and neighbourhoods committee supported the spending in principle on Tuesday, and recommended that administrators present a prioritized list of projects to the services review committee. The committee's recommendations will be presented to the full council at Monday's meeting.

If council approves passing the issue along to services review, members of that committee would need to make another recommendation, which council must approve before administrators move ahead.

Winston stresses that councillors could pick and choose from the list of project proposals. Some of the suggestions — like a $1.2-million overhaul of Tourism London's information centre on Wellington Road and $100,000 worth of signs pointing tourists toward highlighted venues — are things that should be done with or without the skating event, he said.

The city's way-finding signage is about 15 years old and does a "very poor" job telling people how to get from Point A to Point B, Winston said.

Other spending that would have a lasting impact includes: $300,000 for LED lighting on Dundas and King streets between Wellington Road and Tablot Street, and $40,000 for 40 flagpoles to display world flags along Oxford Street near the airport.

Walk, wheel or run like a Fox

MIKE ARSENAULT
LONDON@METRONews.CA

"Terry Fox's original goal was to raise $1 million," said London run organizer Paul Cox. "At the (Springbank) Gardens site alone, we've raised a total of $2.5 million."

An unofficial goal in the mind of Forest City run organizers is to raise $1 for every citizen in London.

The fundraising efforts are usually close to $350,000 every year.

For anyone thinking about participating this year but hesitating because of a worry about fitness, the Terry Fox Run has you covered with a number of options for different levels of weekend warrior.

"Nowadays, our biggest group comes out and they walk and our next biggest group wheels — bicycles, Organizers hope the Terry Fox Run at Springbank Gardens will attract about 1,200 participants.

"It's for everyone — it's a non-competitive event," Cox said. "There is no minimum number of pledges required, there's no minimum dollar amount people have to attain. (You don't) have to pay an entry fee."

Record fine for fire code violations

The owner of a building across the road from Fanshawe College has been fined a record amount for fire-code violations in London.

The owner at 1451 Oxford St. East was fined $18,500 this week for numerous infractions, including failure to maintain smoke alarms in apartments and failure to ensure fire doors into stairwells were unobstructed.

Students are the main tenants in the 12-unit, two-storey walkup building. The landlord did not attend the trial and was found guilty in absentia. The company that owns the building has 15 days from the time of the conviction to pay the penalty.

Tenants with fire safety concerns can call the London Fire Department at 519-661-4565.

St. Thomas Ford plant shuts down

The Ford assembly plant in the southwestern Ontario community of St. Thomas closed Thursday after four decades.

With the closure, the last of 1,200 hourly-paid employees at the plant were thrown out of work.

The sedan rolled out of the 2.6-million-square-foot factory and with it ended a 44-year history that included building Fairmonts, Pintos, Mavericks and other vehicles.

The plant has been building full-sized sedans such as the Lincoln Town Car and Crown Victorias, but sales have fallen

The workers have officially known since 2009 that the plant would close, but they had hoped it would stay open.

To help ease the final blow, the union and the automaker have worked out compensation packages that allow for early retirements and a limited number of transfers to other Ford factories.

Locals take stage at fair's music garden

- ▶ Stage acts start at 7 p.m. Friday and at 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday
- ▶ Access to Western Fair music garden is free with admission

ANGELA MULLINS

While the Western Fair features internationally renowned acts such as the Barenaked Ladies and Sam Roberts Band, there's also plenty of opportunities to catch local musicians.

The fair schedule is packed with London talent, thanks to the new direction organizers are taking with the beer tent. Aside from having all local people on the stage, they have changed the tent's name to the Molson Music Garden and are allowing all ages inside the fence.

The new approach was the brainchild of Kris Dinell, sales and marketing manager for the Western Fair District, and Scott Bollert, lead vocalist with London band After the Lounge.

"We recognize that we're not all big enough to be on the grandstand," said Bollert, whose band performed in the music garden last weekend. "They've given us a home here, which is a big deal."

Bollert picked the music-garden performers, reaching out to musicians he had run across over the years.

Bands set to perform this weekend will play a little bit of everything. One of the highlights is likely to be the Nasty Alex Live Band, which provides background music for people willing to take the stage for karaoke.

Next year, Bollert hopes to include more local musicians, especially those a bit younger and just cutting their teeth with a band.

"The fair itself is a community event, and we're constantly looking for a way to incorporate the community," Dinell said about the new effort. "This

COD RECOVERY

Renewed calls for seal cull

A report released Thursday says 70,000 grey seals should be killed over a one- or two-year period to test the hypothesis that the animals are preventing recovery of groundfish stocks in the southern Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The recommendation from the Fisheries Resource Conservation Council mirrors a proposal released in March by the Canadian Science Advisory Secretariat, which works for the federal Fisheries Department.

Mulcair gains support

► NDP caucus splintering into rival leadership camps ► Vote in March

Two Quebec MPs are urging Thomas Mulcair to go for the NDP leadership, creating the impression of a draft movement for the Montreal MP.

Mulcair has claimed to have the support of "a very large majority" of the party's 59-member Quebec caucus, although he has yet to formally declare his candidacy.

Francois Lapointe and Jamie Nicholls emerged from an NDP caucus retreat Thursday to lend credence to that claim.

"The person I've chosen to support is Thomas Mulcair," announced Nicholls, a Montreal MP.

"He's somebody who's been very supportive to the Quebec caucus. He has helped us in so many ways."

Nicholls said there's "a groundswell of support" for Mulcair. "Within the caucus, I've talked to a few people and they're ready to support Tom."

Similarly, Lapointe urged Mulcair to take the plunge, calling him an "exceptional" parliamentarian.

Until now, most Quebec MPs have said they're waiting to see who enters the race before deciding whom to support. Both Lapointe and Nicholls denied they were asked to make public professions of support.

A third Quebec MP, Claude Patry, later said he too supports Mulcair. And a fourth, Robert Aubin, said he's strongly inclined to support Mulcair, whom he credited with getting him elected.

Another prospective candidate, British Columbia

► NDP MP Thomas Mulcair refused Tuesday to confirm his candidacy for the leadership of the party.

MP Peter Julian, also won an endorsement Thursday, from Windsor MP Brian Masse.

So far, party president Brian Topp is the only declared candidate. He has already racked up an impressive roster of endorsements, starting with party icon Ed Broadbent and Quebec MP Francoise Boivin.

Earlier this week, Mulcair took a shot at the speed with which Topp launched his campaign, suggesting it was not respectful of the memory of the party's late leader, Jack Layton, who died of cancer last month.

Mulcair indicated he wants to take his time assembling a nationwide team before taking the plunge. THE CANADIAN PRESS

CRUISE SHIP BURNS

Passengers take to lifeboats

An "intense" fire in a cruise ship's engine room killed two crewmen Thursday, injured nine others and forced more than 200 passengers to quit a popular cruise off Norway's craggy western coast.

Police suspect an accidental on-board explosion.

Thick black smoke billowed from the stern of the ship, the MS Nordlys, of Norway's Hurtigruten line even before it pulled into the dock at Aalesund, 375 kilometres northwest of Oslo.

Police sealed off parts of the town as the smoke engulfed nearby buildings.

In the ship's emergency evacuation, more than 100 passengers piled into lifeboats in the frigid waters.

"We were sent up on deck and given our life vests," said Danielle Passebois-Paya, a French tourist.

The rest of the ship's 207 passengers and 55 crew left the ship at the Aalesund dock, with some crew staying on board to fight the fire.

Housing market steady: Analysts

► Resilient Canadian real estate industry sees slight price increase ► Even market prevents housing bubble

The global economic turmoil that roiled stock markets around the world in August did little to dampen the Canadian housing market, which continued to show strong gains in sales and prices.

Analysts expressed surprise on Thursday that the wildly volatile swings on North American, European and Asian stock markets had little impact on housing, which for many years has been a pillar of economic growth in Canada.

While many analysts had expected a big slump, the Canadian Real Estate Association's August resale housing report showed sales of existing homes maintained the same levels seen in July and increased significantly from the same month the year before. New listings also remained steady, the association said.

Housing prices rose 7.7 per cent year-over-year to $349,916.

Randall Hopley allegedly abducted him five days earlier in a case that gripped the nation. Miracle.

2 SYTYCD cancelled: Fans were shocked this week when it was announced CTV ratings-winner So

3 The Sound of Silence: Paul Simon's beautiful The Sound of Silence, written in 1964 in the aftermath of the assassination of JFK, took on a whole new meaning for both an older and newer generation when he sang it on the 10th anniversary of 9-11 at Ground Zero. The song was perhaps the poignant moment of the tribute, and already has over a million views on YouTube. For some, it will now be the 9-11 memorial song.

Worth mentioning

Yes, it could happen. But it's a stretch.

Contagion, a Hollywood thriller that opened last weekend, rocketed to No. 1 at the box office through its gripping tale of a fictional global epidemic driven by a new kind of virus. Audiences have gasped in horror at what happens to Gwyneth Paltrow.

Before it was out, the movie made real-life disease investigators anxious, too, though for a different reason: They had worried the filmmakers would take so many artistic liberties with the science that the result would be an incredible movie that was ... not credible.

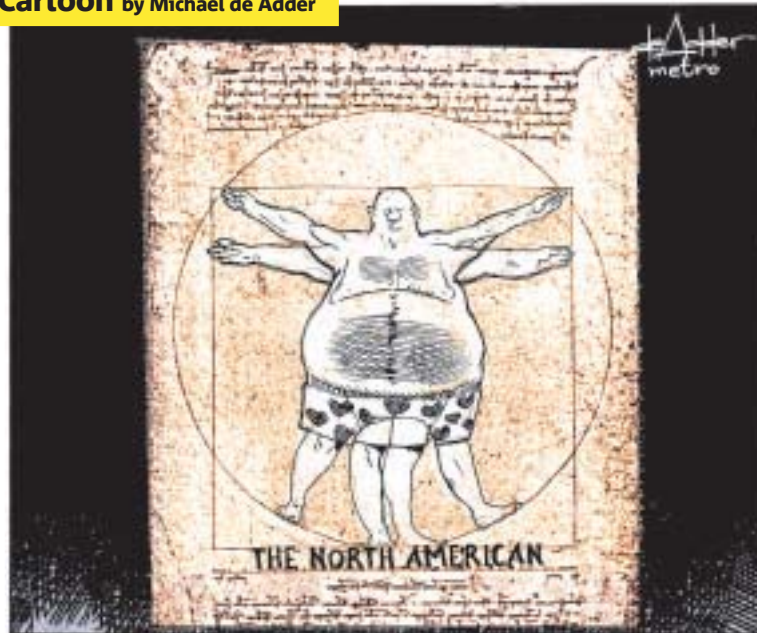

Well, cue the applause.

"It's very plausible," said Dr. Thomas Frieden, head of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, which would investigate such an outbreak.

A new virus jumping from animals to humans? Nothing fictional about that. Global spread of a disease in a few days? In this age of jet travel, absolutely. A societal meltdown if things get bad? Plan on it.

WEIRD NEWS

No need to say 'rhymes with China' anymore

Celebrities are gabbing about it openly. A growing number of grooming products cater to it. And a recent TV commercial hails it as "the cradle of life" and "the centre of civilization."

A generation that grew up with more graphic language and sexual images in the media is forgoing the decades-old practice of tiptoeing around female genitalia.

The new freedom to talk about the vagina comes as marketers spend more to get women to buy products for the area.

"Vajazzling" — gluing on sparkly gems such as Swarovski crystals to jazz up a bikini wax — became a phenomenon last year when Jennifer Love Hewitt mentioned it on the former TBS talk show Lopez Tonight.

Bettybeauty Inc. sells pubic hair dye, ranging in colours from black, brown and blonde to hot pink.

Some women are looking to cover grey hair, while others just want a fun colour, the founder says. "When I came out with it, there was this kind of burst of, 'Oh my god, you solved our problem. I didn't realize how much grey hair was down there.'"

Synopsis

Ryan Gosling is Driver, a movie stunt driver/grease monkey by day and get-a-way wheelman by night. Befriending his neighbours Irene (Carey Mulligan) and young son Benicio (Kaden Leos) he makes a deal to drive get-a-way for some criminals to square a debt Irene's husband ran up and safe-guard the mother and child. When the deal goes bad he unwittingly becomes involved in a treacherous situation.

A strong, silent type

- Ryan Gosling is an intriguing man of few words in the action-packed Drive
- Film is a tension-filled, artfully shot escape, with a great soundtrack to boot

Metro World News Hollywood Correspondent Ned Ehrbar sits in for Mark Breslin this week.

Richard: Ned, Gosling isn't the easy charmer of Crazy, Stupid, Love, he plays Driver like a coiled spring. There hasn't been a leading man this close-mouthed since Rudolph Valentino was the king of the silent screen. He's a man of very few words, but his silence hints at an active inner life and his actions certainly speak to having a past. It's a brave and strange performance, either emotionally shut down, or simply cool-as-a-cucumber, take your pick.

Ned: Definitely the strong silent type. But I guess if your best friend is a scheming, motor-mouthed deadbeat like Shannon (Bryan Cranston), you learn to keep your mouth shut. The expression Gosling has on his face most of the time seems just as likely to turn in to a smirk or have him burst into tears, making him fascinatingly impossible to read.

But he certainly knows when to put his foot down, so to speak. As electrifying as Gosling's toothpick-chewing Driver is, the performance that impressed me the most was Albert Brooks as former movie producer and current mob boss Bernie Rose. I never thought the sight of the star of Lost in America would fill me with dread, but there you go.

RC: Albert Brooks walks away with the movie in his blood stained hands. Gosling, Mulligan and Bryan Cranston are all great, but the character you remember is the ex-movie producer-turned-gangster Rose.

He delivers what may be the best bad guy line of the year. When Gosling's character refuses to shake his hand because his hands are dirty from working Rose says, "So are mine." Great stuff.

NE: The only real criticism I'd make of Brooks is his performance makes Ron Perlman's character, Rose's less well-spoken partner Nino, stand out for being so conventional. But that's really about the only complaint I can put against the film. Every shot is artfully composed, and the tension-filled sequences of Gosling waiting for his getaway driving gigs to begin will make you reconsider how long you can hold your breath. And the music — I've been listening to the soundtrack every day since it was released last week.

RC: It's funny that a movie that values silence so much — there are l-o-n-g pauses in the dialogue — has such a great soundtrack, but there you go, just another surprising thing about an unconventional but intriguing movie.

Scene in brief

A lawsuit accusing Sacha Baron Cohen of causing injuries to a woman during the filming of Bruno should be dismissed. The court said Monday that the finding prevents Baron Cohen from being sued by Richelle Olson, who claims she fell and hit her head moments after struggling with the comedian and his crew as she ordered him to leave a charity bingo game.

Straw Dogs

Genre: Action

Director: Rod Lurie

Stars: James Marsden, Kate Bosworth, Alexander Skarsgaard

There are a lot of re-makes out there that never should've happened. However, Straw Dogs won't fall under that category. Although in its new incarnation, it will be demoted from the classic status that the original 1971 version had, this pulpier take poses a strong argument for being relevant, at least for two weeks in the box office. James Marsden and Kate Bosworth play arrogant, Hollywood ex-pats hoping to enjoy some peace while renovating a house and barn where the wife (Bosworth) grew up in Blackwater, Miss.

Screenwriter Aline Brosh McKenna is like the McDonald's of female friendly rom-coms. She churns 'em out good and regular and the meals always taste about the same. They go down easy and leave you greasy. But in this rom-com factory, sometimes the deep-fryer's not working just right and you're left with the tepid mush that all these films really are. This is a film based on the book by the same name, written by Allison Pearson. By most accounts it was a palatable story about a hard-working mom whose demanding job sometimes puts her at odds with mommy duties. Translated to 90 minute short-hand, it becomes a screechy, silly caricature that leaves little room for subtlety.

The circle of life

► Metro's Chris Alexander takes his son to The Lion King 3D redux

CHRIS ALEXANDER
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Disney has gone back into their vaults and dusted off their 1991 classic The Lion King and given it a 3D overhaul, releasing it to screens anew. The film looks and sounds incredible but it's not necessarily the audio/visual razzle dazzle that might strike many parents. Rather, compared to the studio's more recent, considerably sunnier fare like Toy Story, Bolt and Tangled, The Lion King is a much darker affair than you might recall. Something Jack can attest to.

Jack is my 4-and-a-half-year-old son, and I decided to take him along to the press screening, further exemplifying the 'circle of life' theme of the film itself. I vividly recall watching The Lion King as a kid,

► Chris Alexander and son Jack

the last gasp of my childhood before adolescence consumed me whole and "cartoons" ceased to have appeal. So sitting in that darkened theatre, Jack by my side, was surreal and rather lyrical, both of us humbled before massive projected 3D images of illustrated African savannah. Jack was rightfully awed...but also more than a little bit upset.

Maybe it was the core story, a familiar early Disney cocktail (think Bambi and Dumbo) that taps into the primal fear of losing a parent but couples it with the shock of murder, deceit, child abuse and the visceral jolts of slaving hyenas who eat everything in sight.

There's no denying that The Lion King is every single inch a masterpiece. It's a real movie, not watered down fodder designed to sell hamburgers.

Still, parents of young children should be warned and reminded...this ain't Mickey Mouse Clubhouse.

"I loved it", Jack said to me after lights went up. "But it was too sad when Simba's daddy died. And it was also a little bit scary ... and there were too many skeletons ..."

► Hakuna Matata! The Lion King makes a return to big screens, this time in 3D.

► Moneyball director Bennett Miller tells Metro his recipe for turning a lagging project into a finished film

The journey of Moneyball from a best-selling book to screen is nearly as dramatic as the story it tells, about Oakland Athletics' GM Billy Beane's use of unorthodox scouting techniques to put together a winning team on a shoestring budget. Before star Brad Pitt could step in front of the camera as Beane, he first had to deal with the dismissal of director Steven Soderbergh, whose version of the film made the studio nervous enough to halt production. Enter director Bennett Miller (Capote) — plus a rewrite by Aaron Sorkin (the Social Network) — and things were soon underway again. Here, Miller gives Metro a step-by-step guide on how to restart a project.

STEP 1: IGNORE THE PAST There's this whole backstory which I was oblivious to as it was happening. You know, I didn't really know anything until all of that went down.

STEP 2: BE IN THE RIGHT PLACE AT THE RIGHT TIME My perspective was that I was struggling to get another movie made and finally had to concede that it was not going to happen. The timing of that coincided with the opening up of this opportunity.

STEP 3: FIND YOUR ANGLE I read everything there was to read about it and turned it over in my head and saw what would be my way into it. It's the dual track of this character, this story of a guy who's trying to win baseball games, who's just extremely competitive and desperate to do a very difficult thing, which is to win a championship with a third of the money as the rich teams. But more interesting to me was what was happening beneath that. That there's a character who's being driven by some personal, private issues that maybe nobody else in the story understands.

STEP 4: MEET BRAD PITT I flew to L.A. and met with Brad, and we sat and had a long conversation about how to make the movie.

STEP 5: DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE SCRIPT The book reports on ► Moneyball, starring Brad Pitt, had a false start the first time around.

[Beane's backstory] with a kind of detail that no movie could possibly cover just because it's a book. So the way that we ultimately treated that stuff was invented very late and grew from a lot of improvisation. Most of those scouts were real scouts. The guys in the flashback who scout young Billy are both real scouts — one of which actually did scout Billy Beane back in 1979.

STEP 6: UNDERSTAND THE MEANING OF LIFE The line from the movie that comes to mind is, "It's an unfair game." And life's unfair, and that's the truth. It just seems to always go that way, like you really have to bust some heads to get anywhere sometimes.

LION KING

Stars square off in Killer Elite

In their new film, Killer Elite, British stars Jason Statham and Clive Owen go head to head in a tough-guy showdown many movie fans have been hoping to see for years.

It's all supposedly true and based on the accounts of ex-army officer Ranulph Fiennes (third cousin of Ralph and Joseph). So what was it like for Statham and Owen to finally face off? Why don't we let them tell you.

JASON STATHAM: Fancy film star Clive Owen has met his match.

Going up against Clive Owen: That's a good day at the office, right? Yeah, he's a real intense individual. He takes his work very seriously.

The whole movie sets itself up where we never, ever come face to face. It's like this cat-and-mouse game. I don't want to be doing what I'm doing, I don't want to see this guy, I want to get in and out, get the situation taken care of it and get out, and he's just got to be the man to stop that happening. So when he gets a hold of me, it's a bit of an intense situation.

We made it really, really real and gritty and very rough around the edges, and it just paid off.

We both have a lot of different sort of films behind our backs, and he's got such great respect and such great critical acclaim. You know, I've done stuff that's appealing to a different audience, and hopefully we'll get the two to come together.

CLIVE OWEN: I will kill Jason Statham with kindness.

Going up against Jason Statham: It's actually a pleasure doing those big fight scenes with someone like Jason because he's so experienced. He's technically really gifted and really good at them.

You know, I'm pretty good technically with those fights. I've done quite a bit of them myself. You can really commit, but you know that there's an understanding and an element of safety.

There is a moral ambiguity in that [Killer Elite] is not about good guys and bad guys. When they do come together, obviously you want to see a bit of fireworks.

[Real tough guys] are much more low-key than you would think. They don't strut around, they don't act tough. They just are, and they're very quiet about it.

► Robert DeNiro and Jason Statham star in Killer Elite.

Time to go on the road again, dear.

Hasn't anyone had enough of U2 by now?

After a less-than-successful album, a two-year world tour and a documentary at TIFF, all that's left for 2011 is a reissue of Achtung Baby.

There may be four albums' worth of material in the works, but they really need to go away to dream things up again.

Who's buying all those Adele albums? I mean, she's sold 10 million copies of 21.

Jay-Z has 99 problems and his children are one

► Rapper reportedly paid former lover to not disclose he fathered her child

Jay-Z is happily expecting a child with wife Beyoncé, but it may not be his first.

Star magazine is reporting that the 41-year-old hip-hop icon fathered a love child with model Shenelle Scott nine years ago. Jerard Andrews, the father of the man who was previously believed to be the child's father, says DNA tests have concluded Jay-Z's paternity.

"Shenelle told me that Jay-Z gave her $1 million to keep her mouth shut. My understanding is that he's paying her child support," Andrews says. "Shenelle took the money and bought herself a really nice house in Trinidad."

NOT WORKING BECAUSE SHE'S WORKING. The on-again off-again relationship between Cameron Diaz and Yankees star Alex Rodriguez is reportedly off again.

"They broke up recently," a source close to the couple tells Us Weekly. "They're still very friendly and like each other. He has an enormous amount of respect for her."

As it turns out, work got in the way this time around.

"She's very busy with her career," the source says. "And he's had injuries and wants to focus on his game. They're dedicated professionals."

This walk down memory lane is brought to you by today's release of the Blue-ray versions of all six Star Wars movies. I need them like I need another corkscrew, but giving George Lucas money is an addiction.

Even though Darth Vader is only a child in The Phantom Menace, I've chosen a brooding wine to supplement my pursuit of this ultimate version of what I've already seen a hundred times.

Chile is cabernet country and the Viña Errázuriz 2009 Max Reserva Cabernet Sauvignon ($16.85 - $19.99) is powerful for the price, packing a youthful punch of deep berry fruit, smoky oak and chewy tannins. Chutney livens food

► Originating in India, this condiment can be used to spice up bland dishes or sweeten hotter ones ► Apple & Sweet Pepper Chutney is ideal for fall

THE CANADIAN PRESS H/O

Many may not realize how international their daily meals are. Ketchup was developed from a Chinese sauce but got its name in Malaysia. Mustard began with the Romans but assumed its present form in France. Add to that list chutney, a condiment Europeans discovered in India that has become popular worldwide.

It usually consists of chopped fruits, vinegar, spices and sugar cooked into a chunky spread. Non-sweet vegetables such as peppers, onion and garlic can also be added. Common spices used include ginger, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, allspice and cardamom. It can be hot and spicy or sweet and sour.

Apple and Sweet Pepper Chutney

Fall is the perfect time to make this chutney, which is a delicious sweet-savoury complement for cheeses and meats such as chicken or pork.

Preparation:

1 In Dutch oven, combine apples, onions, red and yellow peppers, garlic, salt, cloves and hot pepper flakes. Stir in sugar and vinegar. Bring to a boil over high heat, stirring often. Reduce heat and boil gently for 30 minutes, stirring often.

2 Stir in currants. Reduce heat and simmer for 15 minutes or until thickened, stir often. Ladle into sterilized canning jars to within 1 cm (1/2 inch) of rim. Top with prepared new sealers lids. Apply jar rings just until fingertip tight. Wipe jars if necessary. Place in boiling water, with tops covered by at least 2.5 cm (1 inch) water. Boil for 10 minutes. Remove to drain.

3 Lids will vacuum seal as they cool. Test lids by pressing in centre (will not move). Do not retighten lids. Store any unsealed jars in refrigerator and use within 1 month. Keep sealed jars in cool place. THE CANADIAN PRESS/FOODLAND ONTARIO

Illness puts Raonic's return in question

Canada's Davis Cup team has proven they can win without star player Milos Raonic, but they would rather not have to do it again.

Raonic's much-anticipated return to tennis could be on hold, as the hard-serving 20-year-old from Thornhill, Ont., fell ill earlier this week after arriving in Israel for Canada's match against the host country.

Raonic was hit with a bug, says Davis Cup captain Martin Laurendeau, and his status for Friday's second singles match against Amir Weintraub is uncertain.

"He's in the process of recovering and getting his strength back," Laurendeau said during a conference call Thursday.

"He wants to play. He trained this afternoon, he's really worked hard to be here and play for Canada. He deserves to play and he will if he can."

Raonic hasn't played since injuring his hip at Wimbledon in June. He underwent surgery July 5 in Vail, Colo., and announced his tournament return would be this weekend's Israel match.

Laurendeau believes having this specific Davis Cup target date inspired Raonic to a faster recovery.

"It really looked bad for the first few months after his injury," Laurendeau said. "But Milos is so determined, he's got Davis Cup as a top priority on his calendar and I think that was the key to success in his rehab."

If Raonic can't play Friday, the team will go with Peter Polansky of Thornhill. Raonic is also scheduled to play the first singles match on Sunday against Dudi Sela.

KEITH BEATY/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

► Jason Schwabe, the Toronto Maple Leafs' co-ordinator of community and player programming, models the new practice jersey.

► Leafs to debut sponsor patches on practice jersey ► Part of rich deal with shipping firm Purolator

The Toronto Maple Leafs have taken a first small step down the slippery slope toward European-style shirt sponsorship.

On Friday morning, the Leafs will debut a credit-card sized patch on the chest of the team's practice jersey advertising the Purolator brand. It's one part of a sponsorship deal that has the Canadian shipping giant paying the club an amount in the low seven figures, according to MLSE sources.

The Leafs become the sixth NHL franchise to take advantage of the league's new (and in certain U.S. markets, desperate) search for additional revenue.

At this point, it's an experiment contained to morning skates and the off-season.

The road leads, of course, to the sacramental cloth players wear on game days. Shirt sponsorship in the modern, splashed-in-big-letters-across-the-front sense started in Germany's Bundesliga in the early 1970s. It was deeply unpopular, but within a decade everyone was doing it.

British soccer club Manchester City recently signed a 10-year, $625-million US sponsorship deal with Etihad Airways, the major component of which is their shirt-front billboard.

At some point business logos will migrate from practice jerseys to NHL game uniforms as well, because too many clubs need the money to survive.

When and if the NHL's most famous symbols begin to fade in the capitalist clutter, purists will wonder if anything is sacred anymore.

The slow creep of commerce across the ocean and into North American sport suggests that nothing ever was.

► Tyler Myers

Two years ago, defenceman Tyler Myers was a fresh-faced 19-year-old unsure if he was even going to make the Buffalo Sabres season-opening roster.

On Thursday, Myers' future in Buffalo was secured through the 2019-2020 season after he signed a $38.5-million US, seven-year contract extension.

"I'm very excited today to solidify a long-term spot and be a part of this organization as it grows," Myers said. "It's somewhere I want to be for the rest of my career. And I'm still young."

Isle be back

John Tavares and the New York Islanders agreed to terms on a six-year, $33-million US contract that will keep the 2009 No. 1 pick under contract through 2017-18.

Convinced that Myers, the NHL's 2009 rookie of the year, has the potential to be one of the league's elite defencemen, the Sabres wasted no time in locking up the player a year before his three-year rookie contract expired.

"We wanted to recognize Tyler not only for his abilities now, but his abilities in the future," said general manager Darcy Regier, who opened talks only two weeks ago. "It has been nothing short of a terrific start to what I think will be an outstanding career."

Myers will make $12 million in 2011-12, $6 million in 2012-13, $5 million in 2014 and 2015, $4 million in 2016-17, $3.5 million in 2017-18 and $3 million in 2018-19.

At six foot eight, Myers is the NHL's second-tallest player behind Bruins captain Zdeno Chara. And in two seasons, the Sabres' 2008 first-round draft pick has shown he has a fluid-skating style that belies his size, while also possessing an offensive knack.

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 If someone in a position of power offers you advice today, you should listen and learn.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 Try not to get upset or uptight today. How you react to provocation will determine what happens next.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 The depth and intensity of your feelings will surprise you today, but don't try to deny that they exist.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Someone you meet will attract you like a moth to the proverbial flame.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23 Someone in a position of authority thinks highly of you. Use him or her to get what it is you desire.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22 If you start a new relationship today, it'll last a lifetime. If an existing relationship needs spicing up, it's time.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Spend less time on other people's problems and more time on your own.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Sit back and let life come to you, and expect surprises of an extremely pleasant nature.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 It's okay to focus on material things. It's not all about money, of course, but a lot of it is.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Creatively, you are on a high right now. Produce something special.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 What happens today will answer a question that has been nagging at you for months.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. Forget about protecting what you already have and look for ways to get more. SALLY BROMPTON

Sudoku

How to play

Fill in the grid, so that every row, every column and every 3x3 box contains the digits 1-9. There is no math involved. You solve the puzzle with reasoning and logic.

someone who knows, Thanks for that cute message. You are very thoughtful to think of all of us ladies. LONELY

Handsome, I missed you this summer, our picnics, our long embraces that take my breath away, your sweet voice and kisses. I cherish them all and...OMG I remember now...You are the best!!!! Saltee, PRINCESS

Jennelle, Baby Cakes I love you so much and nothing is every going to change. You are my only, theres nothing we cant do together. I love you Forever & Ever Mwuah Xo STENO

Awesome #1, I miss you and think about you often. I wish I could tell you how predictable she is but you won't listen. I hope your heart isn't broken again because you don't deserve that. AWESOME #2
